

Works Cited

Article in a periodical

Bender, Pat, et al. "Understanding To Kill A Mockingbird." School Library Journal Mar 2004, Vol 50, Issue 3: 226+.. Print.

Book

Bloom, Harold, ed. Modern Critical Interpretations of Harper Lee's To Kill A Mockingbird.
Philadelphia: Chelsea House Publishers, 1999. Print.

Champion, Laurie. Literary Contexts in Novels: Harper Lee's "To Kill A Mockingbird." Great Neck, NY: Great Neck Publishing, 2006. Print.

Essay in a collection

Dave, R.A., and Bloom, Harold. "'To Kill a Mockingbird': Harper Lee's Tragic Vision." Bloom's Modern Critical Interpretations: To Kill A Mockingbird. Philadelphia: Chelsea House Publishers, 1999. 49-59. Print.

Hartley, Mary. Literature Made Easy: Harper Lee's To Kill A Mockingbird. New York:
Barron's Education and series Inc., 1999. Print.

Website
article - author shown

Horton, Paul, Courtney Lubs, and Rick Vanderwall. "To Kill A Mockingbird: Parallels to Jim Crow America." The History of Jim Crow. Web. 13 Nov. 2007.
<<http://www.jimcrowhistory.org>>.

Website
Article - no author
shown

"Identity, Oppression, and Protest: To Kill a Mockingbird and the Blues." The Blues. Blues Classroom. Lesson Plans. Identity, Oppression, and Protest / PBS. 2003. Web. 8 Nov. v.
2007. <<http://www.pbs.org/theblues>>.

Lee, Harper. To Kill A Mockingbird. New York: Warner Books, 1960. Print.

O'Neil, Terry, ed. Reading On To Kill A Mockingbird. San Diego, California: Greenhaven Press, Inc., 2000. Print.

Essay from online database

Reisman, Rosemary M. Canfield. "Identities and Issues in Literature." EBSCO Host, Wesner Library, Lake Zurich, IL. Web. 26 Oct. 2004 <<http://web9.epnet.com>>.

Article in periodical - no author
shown

"To Kill a Mockingbird." Publishers Weekly 4 Sep 2006:59. Print.